A well-known artist and educator from New York City is our featured artist for Vision and Sound 2018. His work has been shown in over thirty one-person exhibitions and innumerable group showings.

One of his well-known public works is The Children's Cathedral mural commissioned by the N.Y. Transit Authority at Utica Avenue Subway Station in Brooklyn, NY.

After apprenticing with acclaimed afro-centric muralist Jon Onye Lockard in Ann Arbor, Michigan, Greene graduated from The Rhode Island School of Design.

For the past twenty five years his work has explored the communal expressions of the African Diaspora in general, and those of the African-American experience. "I see myself as a visual story teller," says Greene. " Ideally my work will act as a springboard for the viewer into their own imagination, their own experiences, memories and aspirations."
