Council Alters Frequency, Location of Sessions

Expect Panel to Meet More Often, and in Chamber Rather than Pine Room

Those who pay attention to our city government may have noticed an evolution in the City Council's meeting schedule the last few months. In the interest of civic engagement, I'd like bring you up to speed on the changes and the rationale behind them.

For several years, the City Council held regular meetings at 7 p.m. on the first and third Tuesday of the month in the City Council Chamber, housed in the low building out in front of City Hall. On the first Tuesday, the meeting was part of "double-header" with an afternoon City Council study session in the City Hall Pine Room.

Meeting More Often

The councilmembers and I find great value in the study sessions, which enable us to hear staff presentations, ask questions and discuss policy – without the formal rules of a regular meeting. As time passed, it became clear that having just one a month, with the length limited by the regular meeting scheduled following, simply didn't allow enough time for in-depth discussion on multiple topics. And we have plenty to discuss.

After some experimentation, we've settled on one meeting and up to three study sessions a month. The third Tuesday will be a double-header – a 5 p.m. study session followed by a 7 p.m. meeting. The first and second Tuesdays generally will have just a 5 p.m. study session.

For every rule, of course, there are exceptions. For instance, there will be just one double-header each in July and August, per the City Council's traditional summer schedule.

And there may be other schedule changes too, as events necessitate.

Moving Study Sessions

For the last few years, the City Council has held its study sessions in the City Hall Pine Room. We like that arrangement because it allows for face-to-face discussion without the formality of the City Council Chamber. But no sector of Peoria's government is immune for the current budget crunch, and staff members have estimated that we can save about $30,000 a year in set-up and TV-production costs by moving study sessions back to the Council Chamber. (The aforementioned budget sessions will remain in the Pine Room.)

Moving study sessions to the Council Chamber also jibes with upgrades the city is planning to improve chamber access for the disabled.

I am aware that these changes could cause some initial confusion. What's important to know is that the City Clerk's Office keeps track of the schedule and posts upcoming meetings at www.peoriaaz.gov/councilmeet.

Peoria Has Experts Review Lake Pleasant Parkway Widening

'Value Engineers' Look for Ways to Get Most for Taxpayers' Money

Peoria taxpayers may get a little more bang for their bucks as a result of the city's participation in a demonstration project by SAVE International, the professional society in the field of value engineering.

Put simply, value engineering is the analysis of a design or construction project looking for ways to increase value by lowering costs or increasing function. Used often in federally funded projects, it is unfamiliar to many at the municipal level. SAVE would like to change that, and Peoria was its guinea pig.

A three-member SAVE team comprising some of the most experienced people in the industry worked with city officials for two-and-a-half days to study the city's design plan for Lake Pleasant Parkway north of WestWing Parkway. The project will extend the four-lane parkway to Loop 303 and include sewer, water and other utilities, as well as a widened median, trail underpass, meandering sidewalks and enhanced landscaping.

With the project about three-fifths of the way through the design process, the SAVE engineers looked for opportunities to increase the value of the project through cost saving, added functionality or shortened construction methods.

"This was a unique opportunity to get a fresh set of eyes on the plans, see if there was a better mousetrap and make sure we were not running full steam into an unforeseen wall," said Peoria Engineering Director Andy Granger.

City officials will review the value-engineering results and determine which, if any, of the recommendations will be adopted. Whatever they decide, Peoria taxpayers will know that the city has gone the extra mile to make sure that public money allotted for the project is being spent in the most efficient manner.

This was not the first time Peoria employed value engineering. City engineers used the methodology to evaluate plans for the Butler Water Reclamation Facility and Peoria's portion of the Beardsley Connection to Loop 101. In the latter case, the study led to creation of the traffic roundabout on Beardsley Road at 81st Avenue.

Put simply, value engineering is the analysis of a design or construction project looking for ways to increase value by lowering costs or increasing function.

Acacia District – Councilmember Tony Rivero

"Celebrating Peoria's Past and Preserving its Future" was the theme of this year's Pioneer Days held in historic Old Town located in the Acacia District. Pioneer Days took place on Saturday, April 2. It was a great community event that included a 5K run, parade, a variety of booths and an opportunity to meet other community members. This year it featured a "Green Zone" that provided information on how we can conserve energy at home and at work. The city has recently implemented several projects that conserve energy.

Peoria's official 2010 census population is 154,068. We will be using this population figure to assist in aligning the city's new council districts. I encourage everyone to participate in the developing process of the new boundaries. This is an opportunity for residents to offer suggestions and provide input. Citizen kits are available on the city website www.peoriaaz.gov and can also be obtained by emailing Tony.Rivero@peoriaaz.gov or calling 623-773-7785.

Ironwood District – Councilmember Dave Pearson

July marks the beginning of a new fiscal year for the City of Peoria. This means residents may apply for a new round of SNAP Grants. These mini-grants are available to organizations (service, youth, association groups, etc.) to fund projects that solve a neighborhood issue or help develop a sense of community in the Ironwood Council District. Congratulations to the organizers of the 2010 Desert Harbor Winter Fest and the Westbrook Posse Open House who are recent recipients of SNAP Grants. Please go to my city webpage to apply.

The Peoria spring festival "Spring into Peoria" attracted an estimated 5,000 visitors in February. The city plans to make this festival even greater in 2012. In addition to free food and lively music, the event highlighted more than 40 local businesses and groups.

The Peoria Police Volunteer Program was there as well. This group was organized in 2009 to assist our police officers maintain records, patrol neighborhoods, provide traffic control, and other duties. If you want more information about the Peoria Police Volunteer Program, call 623-773-5058.

Palo Verde District – Councilmember Ron Aames

As your Councilmember, I work hard to make sure that the neighborhoods in our district continue to improve. The city has several programs that are available for accomplishing this. One of these is the Neighborhood Grants Program. Amounts up to $12,000 are available. I have helped several Palo Verde neighborhoods obtain these grants for projects ranging from new fences and roadside beautification to security lighting. To learn more about these neighborhood grants, or to apply for one, please contact me at 623-773-7306 or ron.aames@peoriaaz.gov.

Arizona's Centennial is less than a year away, yet Peoria's scheduled events to honor our first 100 years of statehood have already begun. If you attended Bravo Peoria! Celebrating 100!, you know that it was a great way to kickoff Arizona's Centennial year.

On the 4th of July, an entire Sports Complex ball field will be set up as the Centennial Zone. Be sure to be present on October 22 as we showcase "Arizona on the Move." Motorcycles will roar into the parking lot, bicycles will zip into the stadium, runners will strut their stuff and planes will fly overhead. Our grand finale will be a two-day event taking you from an evening old-time baseball game, 1912 style on February 3, to dedication of our Centennial Plaza and Decades walk the next day. Next Year's Budget Maintains Core Services

In a series of study sessions held earlier this month, the Peoria City Council considered the $460 million recommended budget for Fiscal Year 2012, which begins July 1. The recommended budget represents a 1.1 percent increase over last year's spending plan, largely reflecting the use of outside revenues for large capital projects.

The recommended budget is aimed to preserve the high quality of life Peoria residents have come to expect. This begins with a commitment to public safety. The budget retains the same number of firefighters, and even though two police officer positions have been frozen, the number of officers on the street will not change. The budget maintains the city's commitment to youth recreation programs and activities, and again provides funding for small, targeted capital improvements under the Community Works program. Resources also are provided to support the City Council's commitment to private sector investment and job creation.

Like most other governments in Arizona and the U.S., Peoria has had to make significant spending cuts over the last three years to compensate for declining tax revenues. Even though positive economic trends point to higher sales tax collections in the upcoming year, the city had to close a $3.7 million shortfall in its primary operating account, the general fund. The cost-cutting strategies used to balance the budget will not have a noticeable effect on core services to the community.

As a service-based organization, personnel costs account for 70 percent of Peoria's ongoing operating costs. As such, balancing the FY 2012 budget required further adjustments to the city's staffing level. The recommended budget proposed 37 fewer positions compared to the previous year, bringing to 158 the total number of jobs shed since the onset of the recession.

Most of the 37 positions to be eliminated were left vacant either through natural attrition or through a voluntary severance program offered to employees last fall. The recommended budget proposes the elimination of 10 filled positions for a cost savings of $774,000. All of the employees in these positions are expected to be placed in open positions around the city.

Recognizing the extent to which the recession has affected individuals and households, city leaders have sought to minimize the financial burden on Peoria residents. Property tax and sales tax rates will remain unchanged in FY 2012. Likewise, the rates for residential and commercial solid waste collection will stay the same.

Not all rates and fees will stay the same, however. A small number of recreation and development user fees have been adjusted to help recover the full cost of these services. Meanwhile, moderate rate increases are proposed for water and sewer services to address growing cost pressures and capital requirements. These increases will be the first in more than three years for Peoria customers, who continue to enjoy relatively low utility rates compared to other Valley cities.

At $477 million, the city's 10-year capital improvement program is smaller than in recent years. This reflects the impact of lower property valuations on property tax collections used to pay the debt on bond-funded projects, as well as a slowdown in impact fee revenues used to pay for growth-related projects. Even so, the capital plan includes several high-profile projects for FY 2012, including the widening of Lake Pleasant Parkway north of West Wing Parkway and the construction of the city's second community park at 83rd and Olive avenues.

For a complete list of the capital improvement projects (CIP), and a copy of the proposed fiscal year 2012 budget, visit www.peoriaaz.gov/budget or call 623-773-7346.

At $477 million, the city's 10-year capital improvement program is smaller than in recent years.

Peoria Is Making Connections

With New Trail Segments Linking Existing Ones, City Will Have 10 Miles of Continuous Path

Peoria recently completed the New River Trail segment between Bell Road and Union Hills Drive. Coupled with an underpass connection at Grand Avenue that will be done by the end of summer, it means Peoria citizens will enjoy more than 10 miles of continuous trail from Olive Avenue in the south to Williams Road in the north.

Since the trail makes connections under the roads/bridges traveled by vehicles, users won't come into conflict with automobile traffic.

City trails can be used from dawn to dusk but are not lighted for evening use. Motorized vehicles are prohibited, with the exception of motorized devices for people with disabilities. The trail has been designed per Americans with Disabilities Act standards. Horses and their riders also are welcome on the trails.

"The important thing to remember is to share the trail system with everyone, no matter whether they are riding a bike or horse; running or walking; or rolling on skateboards or rollerblades," says Peoria Parks Manager Kirk Haines. "The trail has been designed to accommodate all non-motorized uses." It is a green alternative that enables users to reduce their carbon footprints while improving their health and fitness.

"The City Council has made it a priority to develop a trail system that our citizens can safely enjoy for recreation and fitness," Haines says, "or just to use your bicycle instead of an automobile to get to your favorite restaurant or to a baseball game at the Peoria Sports Complex."

So What's Next?

Completing the New River Trail underpass at Grand Avenue and the railroad is huge milestone. That will link to two more miles of trail southward to Olive Avenue. Later this year, the city will begin construction of an underpass planned at Olive. Peoria also is planning to build another mile south to Northern Avenue in 2012.

Peoria also is working with Glendale to extend the trail further south, under Northern Avenue and on to Glendale's Grand Canal Trail. To the north, there are plans to extend the trail toward Happy Valley Road to connect with Terramar. Once those segments are completed, there will be more than 13 miles of trail along the New River channel and no conflicts with vehicular traffic. Since the Skunk Creek wash trail is already complete, Peoria will be tied in fully to Glendale, Phoenix and Scottsdale trails.

Ideas for Skunk Creek Wash

Peoria also plans to build a parking area and trailhead just southeast of where the Skunk Creek trail passes under 83rd Avenue. From there, users will be able to access Rio Vista Community Park and the New River Trail to the southwest, as well Glendale trails to the northeast – and Phoenix and Scottsdale trails beyond. The trailhead is designed to provide parking areas for equestrian users who pull horse trailers, but anyone will be able to park in the lot and access the trail from this location.

Also on the drawing board is a parallel trail on the north side of the Skunk Creek wash that will allow pedestrian access to the practice fields at the Peoria Sports Complex, and complete a loop around the Skunk Creek wash between 83rd and 75th avenues.

Parks to Enhance Oldtown, Three Neighborhoods

Osuna Park, the gateway to Oldtown Peoria from Grand Avenue, is receiving some renovations and additions. Bordered by Grand to the north, 83rd Avenue to the east, Washington Street to the south and the Peoria Center for the Performing Arts on the west, the park will double in size and provide a gathering space for events in historic Oldtown. There will be a circular staging area for outdoor activities, restrooms, public art and a rose garden to acknowledge Peoria's rich agricultural history. The goal is to complete the upgrades to Osuna Park in time for Peoria's end-of-the-year Holiday Festival in Oldtown.

Peoria also is moving forward with the construction of three new neighborhood parks scheduled for completion by the end of the year:

- Scotland Yard Park, located southwest of Scotland and 91st avenues, is scheduled to open in September. The park will feature basketball and tennis courts, playgrounds, picnic shelters, an off-leash dog area and an orchard with a variety of citrus plants. The park also will have low-water-use turf areas and landscaping.
- Palo Verde Park, located in Terramar, is under construction. Scheduled for fall completion, it will feature playgrounds, picnic areas and two basketball half courts among its amenities. This particular site is rich with cultural resources that will be preserved and protected amid recreational use of the park.
- Peoria will start work this summer on a second park in Vistancia, along Westland Drive and adjacent to Lake Pleasant Elementary School. The park will have playgrounds, picnic areas and a lighted perimeter walking path – as well as lighted basketball courts on the school grounds.

Economic Development Focuses on Entertainment District

Boutique Hotel, Conference Center, Baseball Academy Among Possibilities

Peoria is pursuing a number of economic development projects involving the Entertainment District around 83rd Avenue south of Bell Road.

The city is working with Gensler, a global architecture, design, planning and consulting firm, on ways to enhance the Entertainment District as a destination. Gensler was in the news recently for being selected to design a proposed football stadium and events center in downtown Los Angeles.

For Peoria, Gensler will sift through research, interviews and survey results to discern key elements for the Entertainment District's identity. Once the identity is finalized, Gensler will look at ways to redesign the area, with an eye toward improving connectivity and walkability.

Another initiative involving the Entertainment District is the 17-acre Sports Complex redevelopment project. The Peoria Sports Complex Urban Design Plan adopted by the City Council in July 2010 features a mixed-use concept to replace the surface parking on the east side of 83rd Avenue.

The city did a public solicitation for a mixed-use project, and a local developer teamed up with a financial partner to submit a concept incorporating public open space, dining, entertainment venues and retail with a boutique hotel and conference center. The first phase of the project will be two parking garages at the Sports Complex to compensate for the loss of surface parking.

There is good news about the vacant site of the former Chili Davis Premier Baseball on Paradise Lane. A group called It's All in the Game is in the process of purchasing the building to open a baseball academy focusing on player development. The company has extensive experience in sports medicine and is looking to open its doors this summer.

Small Business

Peoria's expanded small-business program is offering a seminar on financing in July and one on client retention in August. These are free and open to anyone.

For more information or to register, please contact Debbie Pearson at debbie.pearson@peoriaaz.gov or call 623-773-5210.

Peoria's Population Grows by 42 Percent in 10 Years

2010 Census Data Shows a Slowing in Growth

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, Peoria's population sits at 154,065, compared to 108,364 in 2000. The city of Peoria continues to gain population, but at a slower rate than in past decades. The numbers released include population, housing, and ethnicity data for Arizona, including specific numbers by county and municipality. The information was gathered during the decennial census conducted on April 1, 2010.

Of the 20 largest cities in Arizona, 12 are in Maricopa County. Maricopa County's population was 3,817,117, representing an increase of 744,968 people, a 24.2 percent increase in population since Census 2000.

The numbers indicate that the 10 largest cities in Maricopa County include Phoenix (1,445,632), Mesa (439,041), Chandler (236,123), Glendale (226,721), Scottsdale (217,385), Gilbert (208,453), Tempe (161,719), Peoria (154,065), Surprise (117,517), and Avondale (76,238). In terms of total growth by percentage, Buckeye was the fastest-growing community in the Maricopa region, adding 44,339 people since 2000 for a growth rate of 678 percent.

The Maricopa Association of Governments (MAG) is working to summarize the data in a series of tables that will be uploaded to the Web as they become available at www.MAGcensus.com. Datasets will include:

- 2010 Census Population and Housing Summary
- Population and Housing Unit Change: 2000 to 2010
- Population Ranking
- 2010 Census Population by Race and Hispanic/Latino Ethnicity
- Detail Tables for Population by Race and Hispanic/Latino Ethnicity
- 2010 Census Population by Age (0-17 years; 18 years and Over)

The U.S. Constitution requires a complete count of the population every 10 years. Additional information is available on the Census Bureau's website at <http://2010.census.gov/news/releases/operations/cb11-cn76.html>.

Don't Let Your Landscaping Soak You This Summer

Helpful Website Provides Tips for Designing Irrigation Systems

"Water – Use It Wisely," a campaign to show Arizonans how to conserve, has several tools on its website (www.wateruseitwisely.com) to help folks properly design their drip-irrigation systems to save time and money.

In the "Outdoor Tips" section, there is a "Landscape Watering Guide" that offers valuable suggestions for designing an efficient system that will promote overall plant health and a thriving landscape. Here are a few tips pertaining to drip systems:

- Ask questions when buying irrigation components. Most irrigation stores specializing in irrigation parts have qualified staff members who can help design an irrigation system.
- Hire a Smartscape Trained Professional. Smartscape graduates have 20 hours of specialized professional landscape training in irrigation, plant material, planting, design, plant problems and pest management. Visit www.amwua.org for a list of Smartscape landscapers.

For Do-It-Yourselfers, there are a few other things to keep in mind:

- Use separate valves for turf and plant areas. Group plants with similar water needs on the same valve. Accommodate different watering needs by using multiple valves. Trees should be on a separate valve from shrubs and groundcover.
- Install backflow prevention. A properly installed anti-siphon/vacuum breaker assembly prevents dirt, fertilizer or other hazardous substances from contaminating drinking water.
- Avoid oddly shaped or narrow turf areas. When an area is less than 10-foot wide, it's difficult to avoid wasting water.
- Install enough emitters to wet the root zone. At maturity, large trees may require 12 or more emitters. Small or newly planted trees may need only three-to-five emitters.
- Try not to install more than 200 feet of poly tubing from valve to end cap, or a total flow of 200 gallons per hour per valve. Avoid extending micro-tubing (spaghetti line) more than 6 feet from the poly tubing.

Visit www.wateruseitwisely.com for more tips on outdoor water use and landscaping. On the site, one also can sign up to receive a monthly water-saving tip.

For a free water-conservation packet, call 623-773-7286 or visit conserve.peoriaaz.gov.

'Arizona Artists' Exhibit Featured in City Hall Gallery

Show Is First Under Partnership Between Peoria, West Valley Art Museum

The second exhibit to be spotlighted in Peoria's City Hall Gallery is "Arizona Artists" – with pieces from the West Valley Art Museum's permanent collection. The show, which runs through July 28, is one of many city activities marking the Arizona Centennial, which is Feb. 14, 2012.

Curated by Lori Toczek and George Palovich, the exhibit includes some of the best-known names in Arizona art from the past 100 years. Sculptor George Phippen is represented by his bronze sculpture of Father Keno. Internationally known painter, printmaker and sculptor Fritz Scholder; painter and sculptor John Dawson; painter Ann Coe; painter Earl Linderman and many others will round out the display.

In April 2010, Peoria agreed to provide safe, secure storage for the museum's 1,651-object art collection. The museum had been seeking a place for its $1.5 million collection of Arizona art, ethnic dress and international fine prints since the financially driven sale of its building in December 2009.

Additional exhibits are planned under the partnership between the city and museum. For more information on the museum and its collection, visit www.wvam.org.

City Upgrades Online Sales-Tax Filing for Businesses

Peoria has overhauled e~Tax, its online tax-reporting system for businesses.

Following recent changes, users who visit etax.peoriaaz.gov can:

- Experience an interface that looks more like the familiar city website;
- Opt out of receiving paper returns; and
- Set up automated payments.

Users also can apply for business licenses, file sales-tax returns and make payments. Business users also may view their account statements, access information on their licenses and review limited past filing information.

Businesses taking advantage of the e~Tax upgrades can speed up the filing process and reduce their paper use. Online filing also leaves less room for error since clients input their information directly into the system. And since city workers no longer need to input data from tax returns, it frees up staff time for other duties.

"It's really a win-win-win scenario," says Peoria's Finance Director Brent Mattingly. "e~Tax is now more convenient for users and more cost-effective for the city – plus, cutting down on paper was another step Peoria could take toward sustainability, which benefits us all."

Peoria has allowed businesses to file their sales taxes online since 2005. It was the first Arizona city to do so.

Peoria Gives Children Options for Summer Fun

Peoria's Community Services Department offers a wide variety of summer programs suitable for kids of all ages.

The Tiny Tots, Summer Rec Drop-In and Step Out program all offer daily arts and games activities. There are optional field trips for an additional cost. All operate weekdays from May 23 through July 14 and cost $60 for residents; $100 for non-residents.

J.P. Accepts New Job in California

Thank You Peoria Citizens,

After 28 plus years as your Community Services Director, I have accepted a new position with the City of Mountain View, California beginning April 15th. I will miss so many of you and especially working with our great staff in providing quality facilities, programs and services for all of our citizens and guests.

I have so many treasured memories from building new parks and facilities to expanding library services, starting new recreation programs, to Spring Training expansion in Arizona.

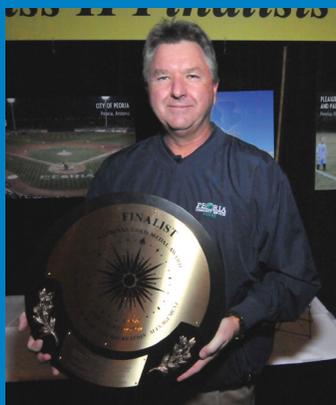

I had the privilege and opportunity to work with so many excellent City Councils and I thank Mayors Tang, Travers, Forgia, Keegan and Barrett for their support.

In addition, thank you to our wonderful citizen volunteers from our Parks and Recreation, Library, Youth, Veterans and Arts Boards and Commissions. Our success is also based on the participation of our wonderful Friends of the Library and Peoria Diamond Club. Our programs are exemplary due to our volunteer youth coaches and all our great volunteers at our special events, swim meets, senior programs, adaptive programs, library services and park watch.

We implemented a lot of great programs over the years because of the support of our partners, like the Peoria Unified School District, Little League, Pop Warner and soccer organizations, the Peoria Boys and Girls Club, Theater Works, and so many others whose mission is to serve our Peoria citizens.

Finally, I would just like to say thank you for the opportunity to serve you and I am humbled and thankful for all the great memories.

Instant Piano for Hopelessly Busy People

Some music teachers may not want you to know this, but you don't need years of weekly lessons to learn piano. In just a few hours, you can learn enough secrets of the trade to give you years of musical enjoyment. How do we do it? While regular piano teachers teach note reading, piano professionals use chords. You can learn all the chords you'll need to play any song in this one session—Any song, any style and any key. If you can find middle C and know the meaning of 'Every good Boy Does Fine,' you already know enough to enroll in this workshop.
