To make it easy for everyone involved I feel that districts should remain being made up of entire County Precincts. Of course these are also being redrawn. It is very likely that they will be used again to draw the 6 district. It would be useful to see a list of these Precincts with the most up to date population in each because at the end of the day the first goal is to balance the population.

Nothing I have found on the site had the information. Of course such a map will mean little, we really need to see this map with the new precinct borders and population totals.

On another note your map shows where I live to be 35-50% hispanic, I have knocked on almost every door here and talked to my neighbors and for my little area this is not at all true, the number is less than 15%. If you lump my area in with the area to the east, that is across a major street, then it could be over 35% because that area is very high. The resolution of this data could really be much better.
